COMMITTEE TO DECIDE ON BOYS'
SUMMER CAMP

Dean W. E. Tilberg, John Fidler, Bigerville scoutmaster, Vernon Corle and Russell A. Campbell were named as a committee to complete arrangements for the annual recreational camp for boys in this section at a meeting of the Black Walnut (Gettysburg) District committee of the Boy Scouts Wednesday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg.

The committee of four was given complete authority to act for the scout district and either to hold the camp or to cancel it for this summer depending upon conditions arising during the next month. The camp, if it is to be held, will be at Camp Ganoga, Boy Scout camp near York, after the middle of August.

Study Problems

Two problems were being considered by the committee whether the camp could be financed again this year and whether there will be enough youngsters wishing to make the annual trip. It was asserted by some members that requests for money to finance the trip this year would not be as successful as in previous years because of increased taxes and heavy commitments to purchase war bonds on the part of those who usually share in the expenses for the camp. An attempt probably will be made to have the youngsters supply some of the food-stuffs in the form of canned goods.

The increased employment of youths of the age usually selected for the camp in farm and other work may also prevent the camp if there are not enough youngsters who wish to make the outing, it was said. This year's recreation camp will probably be more representative of the district than in previous years, it was pointed out. While most of the youngsters in other years came only from Gettysburg, the camp is open to youth in other sections of the Black Walnut district.

Acting Scoutmaster

The Rev. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, has temporarily taken over the duties of scoutmaster of Troop 79, it was reported, with one of the scout leaders of that troop having been called into the armed forces of the United States and the other moving out of town to accept a position in the western part of Pennsylvania.

Work on the revision of the merit badge counselor list was reported nearly complete. Dean Tilberg reported on the patriotic service held July 4 at Brua Chapel by the scouts and a report was presented on the recent camporee held by the Gettysburg Scouts at Pardee field, which was termed "very successful."

Attending the district committee meeting were Dr. Frederick Tilberg, W. E. Bream, of Biglerville; Russell Campbell, Mr. Fisher, Mr. Fidler, the Rev. Mr. Gresh, Mr. Corle, A. E. Orner, Arendtsville; Lloyd W. Kuhn, Benderville; Dean Tilberg and D. D. Crisp, York-Adams area field executive.

NORMANDIE MAY CARRY TROOPS

New York, July 8 (AP)—The one time French super liner Normandie may yet get in the war—as a troop carrier for the United States.

Construction of an observation platform and the tearing down of work shacks on the side of the partially submerged hull gave indication yesterday that the job of righting her—one of the greatest marine salvage operations in history—is nearing completion.

Workmen under orders to have the 400-foot observation platform, from which the righting will be watched by Naval and other officials, completed by July 15.

Soon after Pearl harbor the United States took title to the Normandie from France and was in the process of converting her to military use under the name Lafayette when fire swept her on Feb. 9, 1942.

Inspect Four
County Spans

Four bridges in Butler township were viewed by the Adams county commissioners Wednesday as part of a survey throughout the county to determine the condition of the bridges.

Three of the spans inspected were wooden covered bridges over Possum creek. The fourth was a steel structure with a wooden floor over the Upper Conewago.

Kerrigan Child
Under Observation

John Kerrigan, 11-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Kerrigan, West Middle street, remains under observation in the University of Pennsylvania hospital in Philadelphia today while specialists followed by means of X-ray the course of a three-inch, toy screw driver through his stomach and upper intestine.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerrigan are staying in Philadelphia until surgeons determine whether an operation will be necessary. Hope was held today that the toy, swallowed while the youngster was at play at his home, Tuesday, may not have to be removed by surgical means.

LINE BUILDING
BEING PUSHED
BY REA COOP.

Lifting of previous war-time restrictions has allowed construction of 87 miles of electric lines in Cumberland county and a number of miles in Adams county, Calvin A. Cluck, supervisor for the Adams Electric Cooperative, said today.

The construction in Cumberland county began May 1 and will be completed within the next two weeks, he said. The construction consisted of the placing of line over poles already erected before such work was ordered stopped by the government last summer. Since that time, however, the War Production Board has allowed the completion of service to the 200 customers along the line. Previous construction had been done mostly by contracting firms, but the Cumberland county line is being completed by the regular crews of the local REA Cooperative.

Now 1,533 Customers

Eight farm extensions have been built in Adams and York counties, including work from dropping a line from a pole to a house to the construction of 5,000 feet of line. Such work can be completed under WPB regulations if the extensions are approved by the local county war boards, Mr. Cluck said. Besides the eight already built, 38 additional extensions have been approved by the Adams county war board and war boards in York and Cumberland counties. The extensions will serve 52 farms.

An application has been made to the War Production Board asking permission to build 120 miles of line in York county to serve 421 farms, it was stated. The Cooperative at the present time has 1,533 customers.

BOOTH SALES

A total of $852.25 in war bonds and stamps were sold from June 21 to July 5 at the booth conducted in the Majestic theatre by the Women's club, it was announced today by Mrs. Paul Thomas, chairman, and Sydney Poppay, theatre manager.

With Our Service Men—

Home Front News Irks Men
In Service, Seaman Writes

"This perhaps will sound like sour grapes but it would make the fellows feel one hundred per cent better if we didn't have to read and listen to some of the news from home. As a whole the fellows are slow to judge or criticize but the repetition of strikes and their subsequent threat to production make some, if not all of us, fighting mad," writes Seaman William Fleck, of Gettysburg, in a letter from Hawaii where he is stationed at a naval communications school.

"Because of a new ruling on censorship we are able to write a bit more than previously," Seaman Fleck says, "I am still stationed on the island of Oahu of territorial Hawaii. I am still in school but I believe the end of that is near. . . . I must admit, I am very anxious to obtain my rating and am bending every effort to see that I get it."

Food, "The Best"

Life so far at the school has been a series of tests, the Gettysburg sailor admits and he reports he has been doing satisfactorily. His station is "very nice," he says, "one you'd like to be assigned to." However the station is suffering from "growing pains." "Food is the best," he boasts and proceeds to tell of a "typical" meal including tomato soup, mashed potatoes, fried chicken, gravy, peas, coffee, ice cream and cake. The baked foods, pies, cake and the like are the "tops, our bakers really know their stuff." A complete recreation hall adds to the pleasure of the station, he says.

As for the movie-famed beaches and towns of Hawaii, Seaman Fleck writes, "On Liberty Day we've an opportunity to go ashore which here is to Honolulu or Waikiki Beach. Honolulu is o. k. if you know your

SALVAGE GROUP
PRESENTS JUNE
SCRAP REPORT

Two hundred and eighteen tons of iron and steel were collected during June, 100 tons of which was secured by Morris Gitlin, according to the monthly report of the county salvage committee.

Copper, bronze and brass collected during the month weighed 2,115 pounds and household fats aggregated only 2,490 pounds. The county had been averaging over 3,000 pounds of household fats per month and its quota, as set by the state, is 5,000 pounds a month. O. H. Benson, head of the county salvage committee, pointed out.

He urged that every effort be made to at least return the amount of fats turned in each month to its former figure. "Our soldiers are desperately in need of explosives," he said, "and the fats must be salvaged if we are to continue to supply the members of the armed forces in the quantities they need." At this time of year, Mr. Benson averred, "there is a lot of rancid lard in the cellars of farm houses. I urge every patriotic farmer to sell that lard as salvage fats to help the nation in waging our war."

An estimated eight tons of tin cans were collected during June. 165 tons of paper and 300 pounds of silk and nylon hosiery.

The county committee has urged all local committees to continue their work throughout the summer and not to slow activities because of the warm weather.

Lull in Rubber

"The collection of all types of metal and scrap with the exception of rubber must continue unceasingly," it was said. "The war does not stop just because of the hot weather—and we can't afford to let down our efforts."

At present there is a lull in the demand for rubber salvage but the county committee continues to urge residents of the county to save worn-out rubber products for later salvage.

There is a decided shortage of all kinds of metals, fats, paper, hosiery and tin cans, the committee stated. All of the local groups were asked to speed up their collections.

COMPLICATED
SPUD CEILINGS
LISTED BY OPA

The Harrisburg District OPA office today announced ceiling prices on the new 1943 crop of early white flesh potatoes produced in Pennsylvania. Separate prices are established for the months of July, August and September.

Potatoes harvested and sold during the month of July have a base price of $2.80 per 100-pound bag of U. S. Grade No. 1. This is the country shipping point price for shippers or for growers who distribute and market their potatoes themselves.

Growers who grade, sack and haul their potatoes direct to the market and sell at retail in farmers' market houses or from door to door, are allowed the cost of transportation from the farm or warehouse to the place of sale. The allowance for cost of transportation is limited and shall not be in excess of that charged by a common carrier or contract hauler performing the same service. In addition to the allowance for cost of transportation, the grower is allowed a profit for selling at retail of $1.06 per 100 pounds.

Thus the retail selling price when potatoes are sold direct by the grower is arrived at by taking the base price of $2.80 plus transportation of approximately 20 cents plus the mark-up of $1.06 or a total of $4.06 per 100 pounds. The selling price for a 15-pound peck would be 61 cents.

"Impending Over-supply"

Growers who grade and sack and haul their potatoes direct to the retailer and make deliveries to various retail stores from the same load, determine their selling price as usual. (Please Turn to Page 2)

RAIN CAUSES
LABOR CRISIS
IN ORCHARDS

Rainy weather Wednesday and today has precipitated a minor crisis in the fruit orchards of the county with growers indicating that if upwards of 500 additional pickers are not obtained within the next day or two a larger amount of cherries will be lost than had been anticipated.

The inclement weather prohibited picking Wednesday morning, while some picking was done Wednesday afternoon. This morning a number of growers contacted by the Emergency Farm Labor office reported that they were unable to pick during the morning but had hopes the weather might clear enough to do some this afternoon. Herbert W. Miller, county farm assistant said.

Besides holding up picking the wet weather has also caused the cherries to ripen much faster than had been expected and an even larger force of pickers will be needed to get the cherries off the trees fast enough that too many will not be lost by becoming overripe and rotting on the trees.

Seek Part-Time Workers

An estimated 500 additional pickers will be needed with one large grower alone asking for an additional 200 helpers.

The fruit had not been ripening too fast the last few days because of sprays used to hold back the development, it was stated, but the rain has nullified to a great extent the effects of the sprays.

Another plea was made by the farm labor office for additional youngsters and older people to help at the orchard, if only during certain hours of the day, whenever convenient. Those seeking the work should report to the Farm Labor office on Baltimore street, near the court house.

Times Carriers Increase Stamp Sales; Rookie Leads

Paul Walters, West Middle street, has, in the three months he has been carrying the Gettysburg Times jumped from the bottom of the list in war stamp sales to head the group of carriers for sales of war stamps during the last five weeks.

During the five-week period he has sold 25,140 stamps to his customers along Carlisle and East Water streets, East and West Broadway, College avenue and West Lincoln avenue. His record for the five week period put him nearly 15,000 stamps ahead of his nearest rival, Jacob Yingling, who has replaced Pat Cunningham in delivering the West Railroad and North Washington street, college campus, Mummaburg street, part of West Middle street, Franklin, West and West High street area. Carrier Yingling who started delivering during the last five weeks has sold 10,230 stamps during that period.

Most of the new youths have proved their mettle as carriers. James Slaybaugh, East Middle street, replaced Luther Slifer in carrying the paper on Baltimore, East High and Wall streets during the last month and in that time won third honors for the period by selling 4,000 stamps.

Third in Total Sales

Young Walters' record during the five week period brings him to third place in the total sales standing, just 200,000 behind the leading man, C. Arthur Brame, Jr., Gettysburg R. D. carrier who sold 466,463 stamps during the more than a year that the Times carriers have been selling war stamps.

Young Brame is now on the retired list with his father C. Arthur Brame, Sr., taking over the sale of the stamps for his son, "as a patriotic duty." Mr. Brame, Jr., has been called to the U. S. armed services, but his father, a veteran of

Yanks Storm Munda As Sea Triumph Mounts;
German Losses Terrific

By ROGER GREENE

Associated Press War Editor

American troops are storming within six miles of the prize Japanese air base of Munda after two new landings on New Georgia island, it was announced today as the count in the spectacular U. S. Naval victory at nearby Kula gulf rose to at least nine and possibly 11 enemy warships sunk.

One American cruiser, the U. S. S. Helena, was lost. Most of the 800 officers and crew on board were saved.

A spokesman at Admiral William F. Halsey's headquarters said no other American warship even suffered damage in the blazing pre-dawn battle on July 6 which saw U. S. Naval gunners virtually annihilate the enemy squadron in little more than 20 minutes.

Reds Check Nazi Drive

Coupled with the mounting good news in the southwest Pacific, Soviet dispatches declared today that the Red armies had checked Adolf Hitler's four-day-old summer offensive and dealt the Germans the greatest rapid-fire blow ever inflicted on the Nazi war machine.

In the first three days of furious battles on a 165-mile front, Soviet headquarters reported, the Germans lost 30,000 killed, 1,539 tanks destroyed or damaged, and 649 planes shot down.

BULLETINS

New York, July 8 (AP)—Unsubstantiated reports that a settlement might be in prospect in the long-standing contract wage dispute between the United Mine Workers and the United Mine Workers abounded today as members of the UMW Tri-District Scale committee gathered here for a meeting at 3 p. m.

Thomas Kennedy, UMW secretary-treasurer, said the scheduled meeting might cause a cancellation of the sub-committee wage negotiating conference between representatives of the Pennsylvania hard coal mine operators and the UMW which also had been set for this afternoon.

Pittsburgh, July 8 (AP)—Roving pickets accompanied by women ranged the rolling plains of southwestern Pennsylvania's coal fields today helping close more than a dozen steel company-owned "captive" mines whose output is vitally needed to keep the steel mills running.

The new flareup, which kept about 10,000 workers idle, stemmed from what John P. Busar, president of the Pittsburgh District 5 of the United Mine Workers, termed an "outlaw gathering of outlaw miners" at Brownsville, Pa., as all of the nation's other miners were ending a walkout that began June 20.

New York, July 8 (AP)—The Federal government in its anti-trust suit against the Associated Press is "not seeking to control or regulate the operation of the press of the country," Charles B. Rugg, special assistant to the Attorney General, said today in opening arguments seeking a summary judgment in the action.

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The House Agriculture Committee, by a 9 to 6 vote today killed a Senate-approved measure lifting the corn ceiling price from $1.07 to $1.40 a bushel, Chicago basis.

Toronto, July 8 (AP)—The North American continent alone will outproduce the Axis in munitions this year by nearly two to one, Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the United States War Production Board reported today to the Canadian people.

Hollywood, July 8 (AP)—Screen Actress Veronica Lake gave birth today to a three-pound boy, two months prematurely. The child was placed in an incubator and her physician, Dr. Raymond D. McBurney, said both apparently were doing well.

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The War Production Board has decided to make public henceforth its proceedings in the handling of newspaper quotas. Representative Maas (R-Minn.) said this satisfied his demands that something be done to avert what he called a threat to freedom of the press.

New York, July 8 (AP)—The freezing of all restaurant food and drink prices is expected shortly throughout New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and the District of Columbia. (Please Turn to Page 2)

Two New Landings

In the southwest Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that American jungle fighters had swarmed ashore at two new points on New Georgia Island, in positions to isolate the Japanese base at Munda, which was now covered by a tight land-and-sea blockade.

Other U.S. forces had previously captured Viru harbor on the southeast tip of the island, 30 miles from Munda.

The new landings were staged on both sides of Munda—at Zanana, six miles to the east, and at Rice Anchorage, four miles above Bairoko on the opposite flank.

Aussies Take Hill

Rice Anchorage lies just across the narrow Gulf of Kula from the enemy stronghold at Vila, on Kolombangara Island, where American bombers yesterday unloaded 28 tons of bombs.

At the other end of the 700-mile Allied offensive arc, Gen. MacArthur's command announced that Australian troops had captured Observation hill in their joint drive with American forces against the Japanese citadel at Salamaua, New Guinea.

The hill, less than 12 miles from Salamaua, was seized after its Japanese defenders had been killed or demoralized by 106 tons of bombs in less than 45 minutes by U.S. warplanes.

Five Destroyers in Five Minutes

Shedding new light on the battle of Kula Gulf, where out-numbered U.S. naval forces caught the Japanese trying to escape northward under cover of darkness and heavy weather, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters declared:

"In the first phase of the engagement, four or five hostile destroyers were struck by smashing broadsides that within five minutes destroyed or set afire the entire group."

This was at 3 a. m.

"Three or possibly four light (Japanese) cruisers were then taken under fire. All were either sunk or afire within 15 minutes."

Smashing Jap Setback

Later, in the pitch darkness, "our destroyers intercepted and sank two of three enemy ships attempting to escape from the gulf and damaged the third."

Thus, crisply, was told the story of another smashing setback to Japan's vaunted naval prowess—a battle forced on the enemy by

FOOD SHORTAGE IN INDIA IS OF INTEREST HERE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

India's food shortage, which I reported to you early this year might develop into a serious situation for this great sub-continent of 400,000,000 population, is now said to have reached a critical stage.

Word from New Delhi, the capital, is that the government has called a conference, representing all parts of the country, to devise means of bringing emergency relief. This action follows widespread appeals for food, and almost daily reports of looting of grain stores.

It is estimated that 125,000,000 Indians—more than a quarter of the population—are suffering from malnutrition. Prices of food have zoomed up three to eight times above pre-war levels.

Such a crisis is particularly grave at any time for a country like India, where the majority of the people always are hungry. I realize that's a strong statement, but it's the outcome of personal investigation on the ground. Untold millions never know what it is to have a full stomach.

Lid Clamped Down

When I left India in February, observers were apprehensive lest the already bad food shortage worsen. They were fearful that designing people might contrive to merge this crisis with the grave political situation which had grown out of the Indian leaders' rejection of the British government's proposals for dominion status after the war.

Should this happen there was no telling what the result might be. Already the break-down of negotiations between the British authorities and the Indians had been followed by widespread rioting, bloodshed and destruction of property, and thousands of people were in jails.

However, at that time I was authoritatively informed that the government had the lid well clamped down on disturbances and there was no fear for the future. The food shortage likewise was said to have been provided for, with grain ordered from Canada and Australia. There was unofficial talk among business men that the United States also might be called on to send food.

Arsenal of the Orient

Naturally anything which affects India is a matter of particular concern to the United Nations, for that great country not only is the arsenal of the Orient but is one of the most important of the Allied bases. It is from India that the Allies will have to invade Burma to oust the strongly entrenched Japs and thus open up a route through which supplies can be sent to hard-pressed China. India may be the key to victory over the barbarians of the Rising Sun.

Only day before yesterday General Sir Claude Auchinleck, the new British commander in chief in India, showed a press conference how vital that country is to the Allied cause. Said he:

"We are preparing to help turn the tide, preparing to help carry the war east to Japan."

And at another point he declared that since he was "last in India a tremendous thing has happened . . . that is the appearance among us of large forces—air forces and land forces—from the United States." In that sense, of course, our interests in India are vast.

Axis Propaganda

General Auchinleck sounded one note of warning. He asserted that India still faces a serious threat of invasion. His basis for that statement isn't clear. Many military men long have considered the country fairly safe from the Japs.

However, it must be said—and this is the reason for my writing on the subject today—that any untoward development in the political and food situations might affect the position of Indian security. Subversive interests among the Indian dissidents are straining every nerve to create trouble. The Axis in general and the Japs in particular are pouring propaganda into the country.

Last Monday Japanese Premier Tojo was reported to be in Singapore. One of the objects of his visit was to further his new Asiatic policy, which calls for a federation of all Asiatic countries to face the western world. India looms large in his plans, and Tokyo long has been holding out tantalizing promises on a golden platter.

Settlement of the political difficulty in India, as well as the food crisis, thus are matters of immediate concern.

trict of Columbia, a spokesman for the price division of the regional OPA said today. His statement came in the wake of reports that restaurant prices in the Baltimore, Maryland, area were rising steadily.

Newark, N. J., July 8 (AP)—Office of Price Administration forms authorizing one round trip by auto to a vacation spot which cannot be reached by public transportation will be distributed to local rationing boards early next week, the Newark District OPA announced today.

New York, July 8 (AP)—"The government has submitted no evidence that AP has monopolized the gathering and dissemination of news," the Associated Press declared today in opposing a Department of Justice plea for summary judgment without trial—in its anti-trust suit against the cooperative.

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Democratic Leader Barkley said today the Senate will be asked to recede from its aggressive stand against all food price subsidies sufficiently to allow acceptance of a House-approved bill which continues the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation and permits continuance of the present meat-butter roll-back.

lined above except that the per bag mark-up is 66 cents instead of $1.06.

Growers who grade and sack their potatoes and sell them direct to wholesalers, retailers or consumers at the farm or warehouses, are limited to the base price of $2.80 per 100-pound sack. Buyers who pay in excess of this price, are equally guilty of violation of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 and subject to prosecution as well as the grower.

Because of an impending oversupply of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Long Island potatoes, it is possible that the retail ceiling price outlined above may not be reached during the harvesting and marketing of these early 1943 potatoes. The old law of "supply and demand" is still a factor to be reckoned with in the distribution of perishable agricultural commodities, an OPA spokesman stated.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, McKnightstown, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Colleen LaMar Thompson, to Second Lt. Robert H. Hand, of the U. S. Marine Corps, son of Mrs. Marie Hand, Steinwehr avenue.

Miss Thompson graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1939 and from the Pennsylvania hospital, Philadelphia.

Lieutenant Hand also graduated from Gettysburg high school in 1939 and from Catawba college, Salisbury, North Carolina. He received a commission as second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserves and is now stationed at Quantico, Virginia.

The wedding will take place in the near future.

SEEK SOLUTION ON SUBSIDIES

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Harrisburg lawmakers striving to untie a legislative knot over the Administration's subsidy-rollback program considered a possible compromise plan today that would record Congress as opposing—but not prohibiting—payments to deflate retail food prices.

The recommendation, some members of a conference committee said, is being studied as a potential method of reconciling the Senate's "halt" sign against subsidy payments with the House's green light.

Beginning the second consecutive day of conferences, committee members reported that thus far House conferees have refused to accept any Senate anti-subsidy proposal in a resolution to extend the life of the Commodity Credit corporation to January 1, 1944.

The House-approved CCC measure was revised by a Senate committee to authorize expenditures up to $225,000,000 for the subsidy-roll-back plan but a sudden Senate revolt threw out the proposal and substituted one to outlaw the payments. A similar provision was vetoed by President Roosevelt six days ago.

After six hours of conferences yesterday, Senate Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) remarked that the subsidy wrangle is the main barrier to departure of Congress for a recess until mid-September.

GIRAUD IN D.C. FOR PARLEYS

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Installation of a pro-Allied administration in troubled Martinique was one of the prime subjects up for discussion today between Washington officials and Gen. Henri Honore Giraud, co-chairman of the French committee of national liberation.

(Demonstrations at Port-De-France, Martinique, in which crowds of 15,000 persons demanded a break with Vichy and an alliance with the United States, were reported in a dispatch from Port of Spain, Trinidad, today.)

(The demonstrators, favoring the fighting French leader General Charles de Gaulle, were reported to have taken possession of the streets of Port-De-France for two days. Gendarmes tried to disperse them, the dispatch said, left the demonstrators unmolested as they shouted "Vive de Gaulle" and sang the French anthem "Marseillaise.")

Giraud, the tall, bristly soldier who escaped from a German prison camp to command French North African forces in the fight against the Axis, is in Washington as the government's guest, on a military mission. He arrived late yesterday.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Twin sons were born this morning at the Warner hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Clements, Taneytown.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, Gettysburg R. 3, announce the birth of a daughter at the hospital today. Mr. and Mrs. J. Floyd Smith, Riverton, New Jersey, announce the birth of a son, Ronald Hilton, June 28. Mrs. Smith is the former Miss Ann Aughinbaugh, of Gettysburg. This is their first child.

New Position For Leon Henderson

New York, July 8 (AP)—Leon Henderson, of Millville, New Jersey, former administrator of the Office of Price Administration, has accepted a position as economic consultant on post-war problems to the Blow company, a radio advertising agency. President Milton Blow announced. Henderson will continue as chairman of the board of editors of the Research Institute of America, Inc.

PLAN INQUEST

Eric, Pa., July 8 (AP)—Sheriff Fred Lamberton, acting coroner, said an inquest is planned into the death of nine-year-old Claraella Lucille Minnie, killed when she was struck by an automobile yesterday near her home on Buffalo road.

GO AHEAD GIVEN OFFICE PAY RISE SAYS "SPEAKER"

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The white collar man whose recommendation pay raise has been held up in government files for a decision on whether it violates the hold-the-line order is about to get some attention from the Treasury.

Full speed ahead on requests from business for approval of salary increases was ordered after almost two-months of marking time.

This disclosure was made today by D. C. Speaker, the mythical Washington figure who speaks for authorities that will not be quoted. Said D. C.:

Piles of Requests

"The Treasury's salary stabilization unit did little more than mark time for about two months after President Roosevelt's hold-the-line order of April 8—the one imposing rigid controls on existing pay scales. The reason for this was that the Treasury was awaiting clarification of the order and that didn't come until mid-June.

"Since then the department's various regional units have been hard at work trying to catch up with the piles of requests."

Treasury salary jurisdiction applies only to persons paid more than $5,000 a year or to executive employees receiving more than $30 a week and administrative and professional employees paid more than $200 a month. The War Labor Board has jurisdiction over other wages and salaries.

New Procedure

"The first clarification of Mr. Roosevelt's order came May 12 from James F. Byrnes, War Mobilization director, who then was stabilization director," said D. C., "but many cases still were not acted upon until further directives could be obtained to apply to specific cases."

"In his May 12 ruling Byrnes held that increases might be granted on the showing that they would aid in the prosecution of the war or would correct gross inequalities, provided that no increase should cause a rise in prices nor interfere with price reductions.

"Only last week, however," he went on, "the Treasury outlined general procedure for approval of pay increases for supervisory employees working longer than 40 hours a week but not covered by wage-hour act provision requiring payment of time and a half for overtime."

Ickes Says U.S. Directs Miners

New York, July 8 (AP)—Solid Fuels Administrator Ickes, in a letter published in the New York Times today, challenged a recent editorial statement by that newspaper that "what the administration is saying, in brief, is that it must accept John L. Lewis' terms because it is powerless to do anything else."

"I challenge that statement," Ickes said in the letter. "It simply is not true that the government is operating the mines on John L. Lewis' terms. The fact is that the miners are working on terms dictated by the government."

Hits Law Banning 'Heart Balm' Suits

Beaver, Pa., July 8 (AP)—The law banning "heart-balm" suits is under attack in a $25,000 action in Beaver county.

Attorney Phillip E. Hamilton told the court the first words of the act were "to promote public morals." He said that instead they should have read "to promote public immorality." He declared the act seeks to destroy the jurisdictional functions of the courts.

The suit, brought by Mrs. Evadna E. McMullen against Mary Nannan McMullen of New Brighton, charges alienation of affections.

Minister's Son Dies In Crash

Oxford, Pa., July 8 (AP)—George McElwain Shea, 23-year-old son of a Lancaster minister, was killed early today in an automobile accident at Barnsley, two miles south of this Chester county community.

A companion, Dean S. Rowland, 29, of Kirkwood, identified by State Motor Policeman William Bitler as the driver, suffered an injured shoulder.

Bitler said the automobile struck a concrete abutment.

Shea, son of the Rev. George H. Shea, pastor of Middle Octoraro Presbyterian church, Lancaster, was en route to Charlestown, Md., where the minister owns a cottage.

Father Dies From News Of Son's Death

Sharon, Pa., July 8 (AP)—Less than 24 hours after he received word his son had been killed in a plane crash at Deland, Florida, Hugh K. McClenahan, automobile dealer, died at his home here.

His physician said a heart ailment had been aggravated by the shock. The son, King McClenahan, 22, was an aviation machinist mate in the U. S. Navy.

Appreciate the Times

PFC. Robert Widder at Camp Luna, New Mexico, writes that "I'm rather enjoying my life in the army although I'd say the army is doing more for me than I'm doing for it." Private Widder has been assigned to the Air Transport Command of the Army Air Force and is awaiting orders. "So far my military career has consisted of basic training at Miami beach, and two months of school at the Headquarters Technical school at Pawling, New York. I cannot reveal the type of work that I'm trained for but I can say I'm in secret communications. I did quite well at the school. I was lucky to be sent there for the qualifications are high. At the school I received that lonely little chevron that perches on my arm.

"Thanks for The Times service edition, I'm more a part of Gettysburg now that I've left than ever before," Private Widder writes. "That little newspaper helps me to continue living there (Gettysburg) even though I'm three-fourths of the continent away. Gettysburg is the most important spot on the globe, to me."

Reading R.R. Official Dies

Reading, Pa., July 8 (AP)—Philemon S. Lewis, 54, general manager of the Reading company, died in a hospital yesterday of a fractured skull and other injuries suffered when he fell from a second floor sleeping porch to a concrete sidewalk at his home in nearby Wyomissing.

A native of Springfield, Illinois, he was graduated from Princeton university in 1911, immediately beginning a connection with the railroad which was interrupted only when he served, first as a lieutenant and later as a captain and major, in the U. S. Army during World War I.

TRAIN DERAILED

Confluence, Pa., July 8 (AP)—The locomotive and 16 cars of a west-bound Baltimore and Ohio freight train were derailed near here shortly before Tuesday midnight, delaying traffic on the main line between Cumberland, Md., and Pittsburgh. None of the train crew was injured, the railroad's Pittsburgh office reported.

The total sales of carriers who engaged in active sale of the stamps during the last five weeks, was 1,933,708. An additional 677,780 stamps had been sold by carriers who had resigned prior to the last five weeks.

Hard To Get A Close Shave Here

Nanty Glo, Pa., July 8 (AP)—This may be a strike but there isn't anything the government can do about it.

Irked by a boost in haircut prices from 60 to 75 cents, some 50 of the male population of this mining town pledged themselves to wear their hair short-clipped.

Barbers, learning of the move, refused to close-clip. Undaunted, the customers bought clippers and did the job themselves.

Detroit Again Downs Washington To Take Second Place In American League

WHITE SOX WIN ON STEAL HOME BY WALLY MOSES

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The honeymoon seems to be over for the Washington Senators.

Before the start of the double-headers on the Fourth of July Washington still was a wonder team and was in a virtual tie with the New York Yankees for first place in the American league.

Today the Senators are in fourth place as the result of losing five of their last six games and even though they are only a single percentage point out of third place their prospects of again threatening for the lead are not bright.

The Senators' present plight may be traced to weaknesses that were apparent even before the club collapsed on its current western trip. They had a problem at third base that was so hopeless that Manager Ossie Bluege in desperation finally installed veteran Outfielder Bob Johnson at the hot corner.

Johnson Does Well
Since becoming an infielder last Friday the big Indian has hit three home runs and conducted himself capably in the field, but he hasn't been able to hold the club above its challengers. The pitching has been unsatisfactory and the infield play spotty.

Moreover, the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox have taken advantage of the Senators' slump to put on two of the fastest spurts of the season in the American league. The Tigers, who moved into second place yesterday by beating Washington 9-1, have won nine of their last 11 games and the Sox have won eight of 10.

Hal Newhouse, the Tigers' slim southpaw star, pitched five-hit ball in beating the Senators and his teammates gave him two four-run innings. Twice Don Ross came to the plate with the bases loaded and singled.

The White Sox nosed out the Boston Red Sox 3-2 when Wally Moses stole home with the bases loaded and two out in the 14th inning. It was his 18th stolen base of the season. Johnny Humphries pitched eight-hit ball over the extended route and gave only one safety in the last seven frames.

Yankees Sweep Series
New York's Yankees completed a sweep of their four game series at St. Louis as Spud Chandler shut out the Browns 2-0 on six hits. Nick Etten accounted for one of the leaders' runs with his sixth homer of the year and fourth of the western trip.

The only other teams to get into action yesterday were Cincinnati and Boston in the National league. They divided a doubleheader with Elmer Riddle pitching three-hit ball as the Reds won the first game 5-1 and Manny Salvo coming back with a five-hit performance for a 4-2 decision in the nightcap. It was the tenth triumph for Riddle and the third for Salvo, who had a shutout till the ninth inning.

Elizabeth, N. J.—Johnny Febus, 142, New York, outpointed Jimmy Armour, 136, Plainfield, New Jersey, (4) (other matches on card postponed).

New Orleans, July 8 (AP)—Boxing Promoter Hypp Guille said today he had offered Jackie Callura, recognized by the National Boxing Association as world featherweight champion, a $10,000 guarantee to meet New York's Phil Terranova here in a 15 or 20-round title bout.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, July 8 (AP)—By way of giving ball players credit for everything, the International league plans to publish a separate set of statistics this season covering performances during innings wiped out of the regular records by rain, curfew or other acts of providence or the dimout. . . . Pointing out that the rules once gave credit only for the number of bases to bring in the winning run when a player broke up a game with a homer, Pigger Filbert Ernie Lanigan asks why not give them credit for these odd fragments of innings, too? . . . Hoodoo of why don't?—Chick Werges, Beau Jack's manager, reports that the Beau will move to Philadelphia July 13 to wind up his training for his scrap with Johnny Hutchinson on the 19th and he'll pay his sparring partners $13 a round. . . . Columbia, starting grid practice today, hasn't found a player with varsity experience in its Navy V-12 group.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Al Buck, New York Post: "Smart baseball executives wonder, in their idle moments, if Dizzy Dean broadcasting from Sportsman's Park has not become a bigger attraction than the Browns. There is no doubt that when Diz first started he interested women in the game and brought them to the ball park. Now people may find Dean's mouthy reports more interesting than the Browns themselves."

REWRITING THE BOOK

Roy P. Drachman of the Tucson, Ariz., semi-pro baseball league relays this report of a recent game between the Davis-Monthan and Marana air bases. . . . Bill Clemensen, who once toiled for the Pittsburgh Pirates, is the Davis-Monthan manager and victim of the Meller-drammer. . . . After three innings Bill's team was leading 15-2, but Marana scored seven runs after two were out in the seventh and repeated the same stunt in the ninth to tie the score. Clemensen put himself in to pitch the last few innings and after each team had scored in the 15th he felt so sure of winning that he allowed a Marana pitcher, Ivanchich, who had been knocked out in the ninth, to return to the hill rather than call the game because the other team had run out of hurriers. . . . Davis-Monthan pounded Ivanchich for two runs in the 16th, but Marana got to Clemensen for three and won the ball game, 21-20.

SOUND PLATFORM

Ben Kilgore, candidate for nomination as governor of Kentucky, ought to win a lot of votes on his "pank" boosting foxhunting. . . . "In view of the increased importance of scouting in modern Pacific warfare," says Kilgore, "the success which our troops have had may be attributed largely to superior scouting. There is no better school for scouting than foxhunting, and a large percentage of our Kentucky boys are past-masters in the hunting field, and they constitute a large percentage of the troops now in that area." . . . Wonder what the coon hunters will have to say about that?

UNANSWERED QUESTION

The Dodgers have scheduled a "waste fat day" (and no cracks about the fat waists some of them are sporting) for Saturday, but what'll they do if the customers insist on delivering the waste, can and all, in the general direction of any players who may displease them?

GARDEN STATE OPENING ENDS RACING FEARS

By SID FEDER
Camden, N. J., July 8 (AP)—If there was any lingering doubt about the situation, the opening of Garden State race track left the definite impression today that the horse is here to stay.

When the turf's "war baby" threw open its gates for the second year of its existence yesterday—and got off to a fancy financial start in spite of weather and transportation headaches—the Gee-Gees did just about everything around the track except sell mutual tickets.

They hauled more than half of the 6,521 customers from the nearest transportation stops in a weird assortment of wagons stretching all the way from tally-hos to hay-ricks; they dragged the harrows and the rest of the track tools around the premises, because there was no gas for tractors, and they lugged the patrol judges and stewards and starters all over the place to their appointed spots.

But most of all, they got the cash customers there in time to roll up a total of $409,871 in the "iron men" to make it appear that the new "baby" of the turf's big apple is going to have an even gaudier 50-day meeting, from a folding-money point of view, than it did during its 49-day run in 1942. On that occasion, the south Jersey horse park had to overcome construction woes that forced President Eugene Mori, the Vineland banker, motor car dealer and theatre owner, to finish up the plant with any material he could find lying around.

Hitching Posts Installed
This year, the place was all in one piece, but what with gas rationing and the fact that few regular transportation lines come within a mile of the rambling red and white layout, there didn't appear to be any way to get the customers to the track.

What's more, opening day yesterday dawned with a rain-storm that made you think you were on the bottom of the nearby Delaware river, looking up. It was so wet, in fact, that track officials, obviously not too well acquainted with the genus hoss-player, estimated they'd have only 3,000 or so on hand.

But neighboring farmers, who can spot a buck as well as the city slickers, wheeled out their wagons of all shapes and sizes, hitched their old gray mares—and the browns and bays too—and did a land-office business at rates of 25 cents to $2. A few neighbors, who wanted to invest a deuce or two themselves, even saddled their farm oat-burners and rode them right up to the hitching racks which have been built on the parking lots.

association publicist, reports that he has turned promoter by discovering an abandoned race course "somewhere in the south Pacific area" and he has been working on plans, for full-scale race meeting, with two-buck bets and a court martial to enforce the USTA rules. . . . The entire Siena college basketball team from Loudonville, N. Y., including players Harry Kemp, Walter Przybylo, Marvin Litzy, William Ryan and Frank Rienzi and publicity director Stanley Levine, belongs to one battery at Fort Eustis, Va., and is challenging any court team in sight. . . . Marine Corp. Tommy Loughran, who has been boxing instructor at Parris Island for six months, has been transferred to the Infantry Weapons School at Camp Lejeune, N. C. . . . Tommy always had a couple of good weapons when he was light heavyweight champ.

PHILA. MAY GET ARMY-NAVY TILT

Philadelphia, July 8 (AP)—If the Army-Navy football game isn't played at West Point this year, Mayor Bernard Samuel believes Philadelphia has "the only legitimate claim" to the annual spectacle. Replying to a suggestion by United States Senator James M. Mead (D-N.Y.) that the game be played in some large eastern city rather than at West Point, Samuel said in telegrams to Undersecretary of the Navy James Forrestal and Assistant Secretary of War Robert Patterson: "Philadelphia stands prepared, as

17-Year-Olds On Grid This Year

Pittsburgh, July 8 (AP)—College football players this fall are going to be mostly 17-year-olds but the game will be "interesting and enjoyable," says Sid Luckman, brain-truster of the Chicago Bears, here for a week to help Clark Shaughnessy install the "T" formation at Pitt.

"It will be the football of 10 or 15 years ago—not the football we know today," Luckman predicted. "The former Columbia quarterback, who has a trucking business in New York, didn't know whether he'll play pro football this fall. In fact, 'there's a good chance I won't' he said.

Pro ball is all shot, in his opinion. "Take the Bears, for instance," said Luckman. "They've lost Stydhar, Fortmann, Standlee, Gallarneau, Artoe. . . ." and he reeled off the names of a dozen other shining lights.

It did last year, to honor its contract, referring to a contract with the Army and Navy Athletic Association calling for the game to be played in Municipal stadium November 27.

"Philadelphia can and will fill its big stadium with 100,000 spectators," the mayor declared. "There is no transportation problem involved."

Last year's game, also scheduled for Philadelphia, was shifted to Annapolis because of the ban on non-essential travel.

BREAK IN BEEF FAMINE SEEN AS CATTLE MOVE IN

Cottonwood Falls, Kas., July 8 (AP)—Don't throw away that steak pan yet, partner! That's a lot of beef coming in from the hills and the plains.

The thundering herd is on the march again; millions of pounds of beef from the great grass ranges of the southwest, is ready for market.

The ranges are beginning to dry up—a little later this year because of the heavy rains during the grazing season. Now the ranchers face the choice of selling their big herds or holding them and feeding expensive and scarce grains.

Some associated with the cattle industry believe the beef famine will be broken with a rush of grass-fed beef in the next few weeks.

The blue stem pastures of eastern Kansas and the rugged Osage country of northern Oklahoma are filled to capacity with grazing cattle—some 750,000 head.

July 15 is expected to see many of these moving eastward to market, dry cows and old steers first.

Most cattlemen agree that younger stock will find its way to markets later in the summer and through the early fall, to meet the feeder demand.

Higher Prices
Although forced into the market with a huge supply of fresh meat, the cattler raiser will get a higher price than a year ago, Kansas City packers said. Grass-fed steers at the Kansas City stockyards yesterday were $11 to $13.50 a hundred pounds, as compared with $9.75 to $12.75 a year ago.

What portion of the beef will go to the civilian platter no packer

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Just a few lines to inform you that I am receiving the Times at my new address. I did not miss any copies as they forwarded them to me from Fort Ord, so I am just about caught-up with the news as I do not miss anything in the paper. I brought the last edition along with me to read tonight as I am in charge of quarters at the Receiving office.

I was reading the Times, so I thought I would write you a letter of thanks for your cooperation in not missing any issues.

We are having beautiful weather out here now. The Golden Gate bridge sure is beautiful right now at sunset. I can look right out the door and see over half of the north in Kansas City was willing to hazard a guess.

Packers and cattlemen did agree, however, that the civilian supply will not be choice cuts, but meat fresh from the ranges—instead of the more tender feeder-kill beef.

So keep your red ration points—and a sharp steak knife—handy.

If You Suffer From CONSTIPATION

Try This Grand Old British Medicinal Salts Now Being Made in U. S. A.

In a glass of hot water put one teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts and drink about half an hour before breakfast. 15 to 20 minutes later follow with your usual breakfast cup of hot coffee or tea. Usually within thirty minutes you get prompt and effective relief and should begin to feel bright and refreshed again.

Take only as directed. Regulate the dose for yourself as to bring about that "easy" movement such as you have long desired.

Now keep this up for 5 straight days—just see if you too don't discover why thousands have found hot water and Kruschen Salts so beneficial in relieving that dull constipated "out-of-sorts" headache feeling. Get Kruschen Salts today—all drug stores.

side. I met some Adams county boys just before I left Fort Ord. When I was down at the beach surf fishing. They came to Fort Ord from Florida, and came down to look me up. They were all happy, but like the rest of us, they would like to see this old war end soon.

Again thanking you for the Times paper in the past.

Respectfully yours,
PVT. R. P. MILLER,
Sta. Hospital, Ft. Baker,
San Francisco, Calif.

Dear Sir:

Since my buddies have been writing to you I think it is my duty and privilege to write you so they may have the opportunity to read this letter. With the aid of the Gettysburg Times I have been able to communicate with my friends throughout the world, although I have not seen one from my home town since I have been in the service.

Due to censorship regulations I cannot reveal my location, ship's duty or weather conditions. But I assure you that we have had some exciting experiences both good and bad. It is amazing the attitude my shipmates have, always in hopes of encountering the enemy.

My duties aboard ship are the operation and repairing of sound equipment of which is of great secrecy to the service as to its operations. This equipment is mainly used in anti-submarine warfare which carries us into any waters that our services are needed.

I have sincerely appreciated the copies of the Times that I have received, although I realize it is rather difficult for me to receive them all due to my changing of ports. If copies are sent to boys out of the U. S. A. I would greatly appreciate it if you would again send me the Service Edition.

Sincerely,
ROBERT WATSON, JR.,

Dear Sir:

Just a few words from the boys in the 317th Infantry now maneuvering somewhere in the state of Tennessee.

We enjoy The Gettysburg Times very much, but we have a little contradiction to make in regards to a letter we read from the 214th Quartermaster boys. The boys' names were: PFC William A. Welkert, PFC Morris M. Steinhour, and Pvt. Donald Carver, maneuvering against us as we are the Reds and they the Blues.

In their letter they mentioned that Tennessee was the only southern state that reminded them of Pennsylvania. Well, we don't agree with them. We have been down here for almost a year now and it never reminded us of Pennsylvania. They may have won the first two phases of the maneuvers but since they mentioned that little item they'll find it pretty hard to win the third phase, as we have never failed yet.

Our slogan: "The 80th Only Moves Forward!"

Sincerely,

LABOR, PRICES, MACHINERY ARE FARM PROBLEMS

Harrisburg, July 8 (AP)—Approximately half of Pennsylvania's normal force of farm workers are in the armed services or war plants declared Miles Horst, state agriculture secretary, today in a review of problems facing agriculturalists.

Horst, who listed problems other than the weather, as scarcity of farm machinery and price ceilings on food crops, said the manpower problem is being met by farmers and hired men working longer hours and use of a greater proportion of the members of farm families in the fields.

"Later in the summer, the manpower situation on the farms will become more acute," Horst predicted, adding that he believes the labor recruiting and placement service set up by the state Agricultural Extension Service "should prove most helpful."

Horst added "the scarcity of farm machinery is a serious handicap to many farmers. Right now we are woefully short of tractor cultivators. We are shorter still in combine which would help us handle our wheat, oats and barley with our present manpower shortage. Next fall there will be great need for corn harvesting equipment, particularly corn pickers."

Production Costs Rising
The agriculture official asserted federal price ceilings is another factor affecting food production in Pennsylvania, explaining "in face of these ceilings, our farmers are constantly finding their costs of production rising," and added:

"They are paying considerably more for labor this year than last. We are still far under a comparable wage paid in industry which leaves many of our hired men dissatisfied and will force us to go still higher if we are to hold our skilled workers."

Horst also forecast the reported scarcity of livestock and poultry feed will curtail production of dairy and poultry products, adding "feeds will cost more as our dairymen and poultrymen are forced to compete with hog growers for corn."

Vegetable Acreage Up
An 8,200 acre increase this year over 1942 in the land planted to the four principal vegetables—snap beans, peas, tomatoes and sweet corn—for processing was reported by the Federal-State Crop Reporting Survey of the Agriculture department.

Acreage planted to snap beans is 4,400 compared with 3,700 last year; to peas 17,900 acres this year, 15,300 in 1942; to tomatoes, 39,000 acres against 28,500 last year, and to sweet corn, 17,100 acres compared with 14,700 acres.

Army Equipment for Farms
Fifteen tractor double-disc harrows, once purchased by the Mid-dletown Army Air Depot for work on airfields, have been sold to Pennsylvania farmers through the State War Board of the United States Department of Agriculture after they were declared surplus equipment by the depot.

The board also has 30 self-dumping hay racks to dispose of and has already sold six small-type tractors with attached mowers. The depot originally purchased the equipment in 1940-41 but a depot spokesman said some had never been used.

"My country is your blanket, O Queen, and my people are the lice in it," wrote a South African chief to Queen Victoria in 1868, asking British protection.

BIG NEED FOR MORE TEACHERS

Harrisburg, July 8 (AP)—A survey by the Department of Public Instruction showed today that elementary schools will suffer most from an anticipated teacher shortage when classes resume next fall.

"From all the facts available," declared Dr. Henry Klonower, director of teacher education and certification for the department, "the need will be decidedly larger than indicated by the survey."

Dr. Klonower said data provided by local authorities revealed that while 1,657 vacancies were expected in elementary schools to 2,036 in secondary grades, institutions preparing teachers said they looked for a supply of 843 elementary instructors to 2,654 for secondary posts.

"I think the anticipated vacancies will increase by at least 50 per cent, while the supply will probably be only half of that shown in the survey," Dr. Klonower stated, pointing out the demands of the armed forces and war plants have cut deeply into both the number of active teachers and those qualified to fill vacancies.

"Despite the obvious shortage of qualified teachers that will develop in September," added the educator, "there is ample evidence school authorities and parents are insisting the professional gains in qualifications of teachers shall not be surrendered in this emergency."

"Many men in military service in writing to the department are inquiring what is being done to maintain an adequate educational program so their sacrifices in the fight for the preservation of freedom for the next generation will not be in vain."

CEILING PRICE RISE

Philadelphia, July 8 (AP)—Ceiling prices will rise sharply Saturday on approximately 30 kinds of canned foods in the Philadelphia area, the regional Office of Price Administration announced. Typical increases will be: Canned asparagus, four cents; spinach—a break for small boys with economy-minded mothers—four and one-half cents.

Son Gets Medal For Hero Father

Pittsburgh, July 8 (AP)—An eight-year-old boy will stand at attention Saturday at the Atlantic City Naval Air station to receive the air medal and Oak Leaf Cluster his father won in the skies over France.

The boy is Anthony C. McCauley, Jr., son of Lieut. McCauley, bombardier missing since his squadron blasted the Nazi submarine base at St. Nazaire on January 3.

With the boy at the ceremony will be his mother, the former Louise Sanguigni, and his two grandmothers, Mrs. Catherine Meyer of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Anna C. Sanguigni.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO HOME CANNERS

The Glass Top Seal Fruit Jar Cap for Home Canning was developed as a Wartime product to conserve metal. It consists of a Metal Band, Glass Lid and Rubber Ring.

Because of the difference in the nature of these three materials this Cap must be used differently from any other fruit jar cap. If used properly it will give excellent results. If not used properly, results will be bad, including failure to seal and breakage of jars. Following are simple instructions for use of the Glass Top Seal Cap and must be followed carefully.

1. Do NOT use in Oven Canning.
2. If processing, (cooking in jar), leave 1 inch space in top of jar. If using open kettle, leave 1/2 inch space in top of jar.
3. Fit rubber around projection on bottom side of lid.
4. Place lid so rubber lies between lid and top edge of jar.
5. Turn bands tight, then loosen slightly (about 1/4 turn). Bands must fit loosely during processing (cooking). This is important and must be done to insure best results. If using Open Kettle, screw bands tight as soon as jar is filled.
6. After processing, screw bands tight to complete seal. Remove bands 12 hours after canning.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

RAZOR SCARRED VETERAN
In freedom's cause I bled a bit,
But face the hazards unafraid,
As I to keep appearance fit
Try shaving with an aging blade.That extra shave that isn't there!
That shave the steel could not provide!
That shave too much for flesh to bear!
I risk it with a patriot's pride.In peace times I would change the blade
And just for comfort's sake escape
That shave for which it wasn't made,
But bravely now my chin I scrape.Come bloodshed now! Come agony!
From high resolve I'll not be swayed!
Come scars for all the world to see,
I'll shave however dull the blade.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

CONFIDENCE

More and more this word Confidence has been running through my mind of late. How significantly important it is in meaning, and in its effect upon our daily lives and upon the world at large, in every phase of human endeavor!Confidence is the life-blood of character. All contact and communication with human beings amount to nothing if there is no Confidence to build upon. And between nations, of what value are treaties and arrangements if there remains no solid Confidence to back them up?To win the Confidence of a man is to win that man's faith and cooperation and his full heart in whatever plan or deal that is entered into. We trust the money of our country, its bonds and its laws, because we have Confidence in its word and ability to make good on what it proposes.When Confidence is gone, what is there left upon which to build?That mark "Sterling" or "14k."
gives us Confidence at once in the genuineness of silver and gold. We do not question these stampings.
Likewise the Trademarks of many firms give us Confidence in their products, and each is jealous of that Trademark.The late Will Rogers disliked contracts, and rarely, if ever, made them. He wanted to have Confidence in the other fellow's word, as he wanted him to have Confidence in his word. That phrase "as good as his bond" isn't nearly as fine as is the one "as good as his word."The elder J. P. Morgan always believed that a man's character was his best security against a loan—and he once stated that he had often loaned millions upon it alone.
It is the Confidence an army has in its leaders that makes it fight with all that it has—even to the giving of its precious substance of life itself. It is impossible to win anywhere, or in anything, without this Confidence.Confidence in one's self is one's greatest asset. Every once in a while it moves a mountain!Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Ideas Travel.""Crocodile tears" is used as a term of hypocrisy because the reptile cries when it fills its mouth with food.

Events of 60th Anniversary Begin
With Review at Spangler's Spring:
On Monday morning at 10 o'clock
the first of the events of the Sixtieth anniversary program in which Battery B, 16th Field artillery participated, was held here. Review of the Battery of Federal troops was the feature of the forenoon. At least 500 persons were in the vicinity of Spangler's Spring when Colonel E. B. Cope, superintendent of the Gettysburg National park, received the review from Captain Sanderson, commandant of the visiting troops.At noon, the Woman's Auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans camp of Gettysburg served "hot dogs" and coffee to the veterans gathered at the Spring.Graduate Weds at State College:
C. S. Rice, of Arendtsville, has announced the marriage of his daughter Mary E. Rice, to Walter L. Hess, of Millersville, at the State College on June 12. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Harkins, Lutheran pastor there.New Links Open: The only public golf course on the Lincoln Highway between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh—that at Graeffenburg Inn—12 miles west of Gettysburg, was opened formally on Wednesday, the Fourth of July."Scotty" Robinson, a prominent golfer, who laid out the nine hole course at Graeffenburg, together with a group of professionals, staged a match on the links during the day.Was Quiet Fourth: The celebration of the 147th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence in Gettysburg maintained an air of quiet dignity throughout the day Wednesday. A few innocent torpedoes and caps were heard to snap at long intervals, but there was a noticeable absence of the wild hilarity and dangerous explosions which used to mark the celebration "back in the old days." The streets were well crowded with visitors, and cars thronged the battlefield drives during the latter part of the morning.On Wednesday evening several thousand persons motored to Marsh Creek Heights to witness the display of fireworks there.Will Tour England: President Judge and Mrs. Donald P. McPherson and son, Donald, Jr., sailed Saturday on the steamship "President Roosevelt" for a vacation tour in England and Scotland. They will return the latter part of August.Wed at Pittsburgh: Miss Margaret McClellan, daughter of Mrs. H.
E. McClellan, Gettysburg, and Archibald Bortner, York street, were married at the parsonage of a Lutheran church in Pittsburgh by the Rev.
C. M. Kunkle on June 22, according to word received here. Mr. Bortner has accepted a position at Donora,
where the newly weds will reside.Dempey Keeps World's Title:
Ringside, Shelby, Mont., July 5—
Jack Dempey successfully defended his world's heavyweight championship Wednesday afternoon by gaining a referee's decision over Tom Gibbons, challenger, after fifteen mauling rounds. There never was any doubt about Dempey's superiority.Married on Thursday: Maurice C.
Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder, of Gettysburg, and Miss Lottie Elizabeth Kane, daughter of Andrew Kane, of Arendtsville, were joined in marriage by the Rev. Father Stock on Thursday afternoon.Leaves for Camp: W. Howard Armor, East Middle street, left Friday for Mount Gretna, where he will participate in the annual tour of duty arranged for the Pennsylvania National guardsmen. Mr. Armor holds the rank of second lieutenant in the repair section of the motor transport service of the National guard.Fire at Orrtanna Light Plant Leaves Surrounding Towns Without Current: Fire, caused by an overheated exhaust pipe, completely destroyed the plant of the Orrtanna Light and Power company, one mile west of Orrtanna early Saturday morning, causing a loss estimated at $18,000. The loss is partly covered by insurance.As a result of the fire, Fairfield, Orrtanna, Cashtown, McKnightstown, Biglerville, Mummaburg, Seven Stars and much of the rural

New Super-Secret Fighter Planes In Production

DEVELOPED IN BATTLE TO AID
HUGE OFFENSIVEWashington, July 8 (AP)—New super-secret fighter planes designed to meet up-to-the-minute combat conditions have started rolling off the assembly lines to take their place in the stepped-up aerial offensive of the Allies.Disclosure that new fighter types are in production was made by Charles E. Wilson, executive vice president of the War Production Board, who declined, for security reasons, to reveal any details.Asked at a press conference late yesterday whether the new sky bat-tlers are entirely new jobs or modifications of existing ones, Wilson replied with a laconic "both."WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson said it was these changes in types, necessitated by combat experience, that presented the greatest single obstacle to greater volume production.Heavier Production
When all present production facilities reach their ultimate maximum, Wilson predicted, this country will be able to turn out "in excess of 10,000 planes monthly." This peak will not be reached until some time in 1944. "Plane production in May exceeded 7,000, the highest so far announced."Nelson said surveys now are being made "to find all the reasons" why over-all munitions production failed to increase in May over April, despite new records in planes and ships.Nelson and Wilson told reporters June output of planes was about the same as in May "in numbers," but greater when figured on the basis of weight. This indicated a continuing trend toward heavier planes, including four-engine bombers.Manpower Problem Nelson emphasized that "we're not satisfied with the May figures; we're not satisfied with the June figures," but predicted it still would be possible to meet the 1943 production goals. He previously estimated that in the first six months, 44 per cent of the year's merchant shipbuilding program was achieved, with the following percentages for the other major programs: Naval vessels and

OLD RED MAGIC

Hershey, Pa. (AP)—His fellow victory gardeners looked at State Policeman William P. McMillen's tomato plants and marvelled.
The tomatoes were bright red while theirs were still green.
They looked again and chuckled.
For a joke, he had substituted red Christmas tree ornaments.

fer, Tulsa baker, says adults could cut their shoe consumption to one pair a year, by following his example.
He goes barefoot, at home and competence of the helper assigned him at his shipyard job.

The helper is Mrs. Harry P.
Coulson.

IRKED CUSTOMER

Chicago (AP)—Policeman Frank Rydelek rushed to a street corner to break up what looked like a fight.
But he discovered Edward Poplawski kicking and shaking a peanut vending machine. He became irked, he told the officer, when he received only two peanuts each time he inserted a penny in the machine—and he had invested 7 cents.equipment, 40 per cent; Army ornance, 40 per cent, and aircraft, 35 per cent.To meet the year's goals, production in the last half must be nearly 50 per cent greater than in the first half.There were no materials shortages
"of any consequence" in May or June, Nelson said. He added, however, that manpower is becoming an increasing problem in many plants.

PROMISE FCC
PROBE LATERWashington, July 8 (AP)—Regulation of radio broadcasting by the Federal Communications commission will get a thorough airing before Congress when members return from a summer recess, Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.) of the Senate Interstate Commerce committee announced today.Wheeler said he is in accord with a proposal by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that Congress—and not the FCC—write the specifications for government restraints on radio.He made it clear, however, that he did not agree fully with Taft's contention in the Senate yesterday that FCC regulations point toward ultimate "destruction" of the radio networks and the limitation of their freedom of expression."I'm in favor of free speech," Wheeler told an interviewer, "but I don't want that freedom to be regulated by a couple of chains that are owned and controlled by large financial interests in New York which have been guilty in the past of filling the air with propaganda on foreign policies with which they agree."It is estimated that Italy has water power sites that would yield nine million horsepower, but only half of this has been harnessed.Says Goering Ran Scrap Drive Here
In 1937 For NazisPittsburgh, July 8 (AP)—How Herman Goering, No. 2 Nazi, put on a scrap drive in the United States in 1937 and 1938 was related by Peter Gissibl in a Federal court trial in which the government seeks to revoke the citizenship of Arthur Heinrich Wolter, 36, assistant chain store manager, of Pittsburgh.Gissibl, who is described by the government as a former chief German-American Bund organizer and at present is a tailor at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, said the bund was formed to help Adolf Hitler seize power.Gissibl said Goering issued orders to the bund to collect tin, copper and brass to ship to Germany but did not say whether any actually had been shipped. Gissibl, a naturalized German war veteran, is a government witness.W. W. Hill, an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, testified letters written by Wolter were found in a raid on the Bund headquarters in New York.The government charges Wolter obtained naturalization through misrepresentation and fraud in 1932.
In the first four months of 1943,
the dairy industry set a new record for production, averaging 1,770,000 pounds a day more than the record breaking production in the corresponding period of 1942.

From where I sit...
by Joe Marsh

John Trumbull, our postmaster, looks up from his newspaper yesterday and says: "I see they caught another one of them so-called 'gang-lords' of the Prohibition era."

"Wonder how long it's going to take us to wipe out the evil Prohibition left behind... not to mention the billions of dollars
it cost the people?"

Well, John's right o' course.
Hard to believe America could ever pass a law like Prohibition.

But from where I sit it's a big consolation—now that Prohibition is over—to see how moderation and tolerance have grown up in its place.

Nowadays, if a man enjoys a friendly glass of beer or two after a day's work, he not only can do it in clean, respectable surroundings—but he knows that no bootlegger or gangster is making a red cent on it.

Million Fighting Men On the Russian front, upwards of 1,000,000 German and Soviet troops fought amid the din of violent tank battles as Hitler's invaders attempted to break through the Red Army wall guarding Kursk, 300 miles below Moscow.

And now for the first time, after three days of warily asserting that the Russians had opened the attack, Berlin acknowledged that this was the long-delayed Nazi summer offensive.

While declaring that the Red armies were holding, except for a few "insignificant wedges" driven into Soviet defenses around Belgorod, the Russians warned against undue optimism.

"It would be wrong for us to underestimate the strength of German troops conducting the big offensive," the Russian command said. "German forces are great. It is too early to formulate a final conclusion concerning the outcome of the battles."

Cavalcante Trial Off Until Victory

Uniontown, Pa., July 8 (AP) — Trial of former State Senator Anthony Cavalcante on a charge of illegally accepting a $10,000 fee from the Fayette county commissioners has been postponed until victory.

Cavalcante has enlisted in the Army. It will be his second war. In 1917 he left German Township high school, where he was a sophomore, and served 13 months overseas, winning the Order of the Purple Heart.

The former senator's case grew out of what the grand jury called an illegal fee paid him for helping settle a state claim against the county. His trial had been set for this fall but will be postponed pending his service in the Army.

MURDER IN TIN

By CARL A. PETERSON

Chapter 1

I am no good at all in locating missing persons. Especially a missing person like Sam Taggard. I'm a mining engineer, serving my country in the Specialist Corps and my specialty is tin. When the Washington cable reached me I'd been studying tin production in the Patino mines in Bolivia. I took the cable to my room. Decoded, it read:

LEAVE IMMEDIATELY MEXICO CITY. POSSIBILITY SAM TAGGARD THERE. YOU WILL MAKE ACQUAINTANCE DAUGHTER. ARRANGEMENTS IN PREPARATION.

I felt pretty bitter. For a long time now, ever since the Jap seizure of Thailand and the Dutch East Indies tin sources, my work had been periodically interrupted by cables about Sam Taggard. Each time I had to stop what I was doing and run for boat or plane and become involved in this man-hunt that to date had failed to produce the man.

Once more, as I packed my suitcase I wondered why I had to be pulled into this Sam Taggard business.

I had been to Washington twice in the last six months and on each visit I'd informed the metallurgists, the Army Procurement officials, the War Planning Board people that I was not an F. B. I. man. I had asked to be released from all future connections with Sam Taggard. I had insisted that my specialty was tin. It wasn't in locating Sam Taggard even if Sam Taggard had located a tin source equal to or even surpassing the Patino mines and the Patino mines are the greatest tin source open to the United Nations.

My protests hadn't done me much good. I was a mesh in the inter-American net spread out for Sam Taggard. This wasn't the first time I had been ordered to meet one of his relatives or connections. It was no use protesting to my boss, Lew Fall. The trips had been profitless, cutting into my main job which was to expedite the movement of tin ore from the Patino mines to the huge smelting plant the U. S. Government had built in Texas. My job was tin; tin and more tin. Not that I couldn't see my boss's logic. If my job was tin, Sam Taggard in a sense was tin. He was also a few other things; he had specialties too. He was a mining engineer. He was a famous discoverer of ore fields all over the Latin Americas. He was a high-class racketeer who had, prior to Pearl Harbor, consistently played a speculative game with his various discoveries. He had broken contracts so frequently that he himself had been a gold mine to a whole series of lawyers. He was also damned good at staying missing right now. He was a person whom we just had to find.

A nation at war must have tin and we had less of it than ever. Ninety thousand tons out of the hundred thousand tons of tin that we had used in peacetime had come from Thailand and the Dutch East Indies. That was the single staggering statistic.

We needed tin for the fighter planes were being built. We needed tin for Babbitt metal to go into our war-time machinery. We needed tin for the billions of food cans being sent overseas to our A.E.F.s.

It made me burn when I thought of Sam Taggard. He was, of course, a traitor. For a while Fall had believed him dead, murdered by Axis agents somewhere in Latin America. But later our counter-espionage had reported him as alive. He was alive and had already collected about two hundred thousand dollars to stay in hiding and keep his tin ore from being exploited for the duration.

Counter-espionage had reported him as wanting a million dollars before turning over the maps of his discovery to the Axis agents. Fall also felt that Sam Taggard was clever enough to conceal the maps from both the Gestapo and the Japs. He had spent a lifetime in such strategies. Besides, his life wasn't worth much if Axis agents were to get hold of his maps. They would liquidate him immediately to prevent him from double crossing them.

The next morning, I said goodbye to the Superintendent and the staff of engineers stationed at the Patino mines and took the train down to Potosi.

The Superintendent of the Patino mines had given me a match folder some one had mailed him from the States. Sometimes, on that long trip, I would look at it. It was a reminder all right. One cover showed a row of gleaming tin cans against a maroon background with a slogan reading:

Your Country Needs TIN!

Don't Waste It!

On the reverse side there was an illustration of a tin can with its top and bottom cut out and a second can pressed down flat and a smaller illustration of an industrial plant. The slogans on the reverse side read:

SAVE ALL Cans, Bottle Tops, Etc.

TIN IS AMMUNITION!

I would look at that match folder and the hope ran through my brain that maybe this time I would catch up with Sam Taggard.

"You will make acquaintance daughter," the cable had instructed me. How did she look, this daughter of Taggard's, I wondered. If she was anything like Taggard, the next few weeks would be interesting in a way that wouldn't do much to lengthen my lifetime.

FHA Free From Local Ordinance

Philadelphia, July 8 (AP) — The Federal Public Housing Authority may build either temporary or permanent houses without complying with local building regulations, in the opinion of U. S. District Judge J. Cullen Ganey.

His ruling was issued Tuesday when he granted an injunction restraining Chester, Pa., city officials from interfering with construction of 150 temporary homes for negro war plant workers.

The injunction was sought by the government after a Chester official, charging that the projected dwellings were "insanitary" and "fire-traps," caused the arrest of the contractor's superintendent for alleged violations of the city building code.

FAVOR AUDIBLE ALL CLEAR NOTE

Harrisburg, July 8 (AP)—Strong indications that Pennsylvania will return to an audible signal to mark the all clear in future air raid drills were given by the state's defense chief yesterday after the Army announced new regulations permitted the change.

Shortly after Maj. Gen. Milton A. Record of the Army's Third Service Command reported at Baltimore that the three states in his command could dispense with radio broadcast of the all clear, Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchison, director of the state Defense Council, declared:

"We have not yet received official notification and will defer definite action until this is received. However, we are favorable to an audible all clear for Pennsylvania, having requested some time ago that such a change be made."

A 15-second solid blast of whistles and sirens was tested June 16 in a blackout for the five-county Philadelphia area and pronounced satisfactory.

"No Strike" Pledge Given In New Jersey

Trenton, N. J., July 8 (AP)—The nation had the pledge today of management and labor that they would do all in their power to prevent strikes, lockouts or other work stoppages for the duration of the war in New Jersey, producer of one-sixth of the country's sinews of war.

Council also disclosed air raid wardens and other civilian defense volunteers still are eligible for "B" gasoline ration books if needed to perform their duties.

Disturbed by the outbreak of more than 30 strikes in the state in the past three months, Governor Charles Edison Tuesday invited representatives of the State Federation of Labor (AFL), state CIO Council, New Jersey Manufacturers Association and State Chamber of Commerce to a conference in his office.

GIMBEL SALARIES

Philadelphia, July 8 (AP)—Bernard F. Gimbel, president of Gimbel Bros., Inc., of New York, and Adam L. Gimbel, president of Saks and Co., received $100,000 each during 1942, the Gimbel concern's annual report to the Securities and Exchange commission disclosed.
